1988 TOBACCO YEAR IN REVIEW

The 1988 tobacco marketing season in South Carolina was one of ups and downs as prices seemed to fluctuate from market to market, even from warehouse to warehouse within the same market.

A strong factor in this was the weather. There were areas with good seasons of some rain, no rain, hail, too much rain and heat which was hard on the tobacco plants in the field. These growing conditions were major reasons behind the floor of tobacco which affected price and quality.

South Carolina producers sold 91,826,112 pounds for $148,039,839.52 an average of $161.22 per 100 pounds in 1988. Sales for dealers and resales for warehousemen increased this total to 103,334,108 pounds for $166,708,468.39.

These figures compared with 1987 producer sales of 87,515,400 pounds for $140,409,858.40, an average per 100 pounds of $160.44.

Field preparation weather conditions for the '88 crop were generally favorable, but dry conditions prevailed during early April transplanting which slowed this pace. Rains came in late April and cooler than normal weather conditions arrived in early May. Mid-May temperatures remained cooler than normal and there was some premature flowering of the plants in late May due to cool nights.

The cool nights and dry soil continued in early June. Topping of the crop began in early June with weather conditions remaining mostly dry. A little tobacco was harvested in early July. This pace picked up during the second week of July.

Tobacco harvesting was hampered by weather conditions in August which included extreme heat, no rain or in some areas, too much rain and even hail.

Prices opened slightly lower than the first week of 1987, but began to improve by the third week. With higher quality tobacco coming to market, fourth week sales climbed, a trend that continued into the seventh week. Lower quality tobacco in the final weeks of sales resulted in lower overall prices for that period.

The markets opened Aug. 2 and closed Oct. 25, with 47 sales days, an increase of five days over 1987.

The Tobacco Market News of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service noted of the season: "Grade averages improved, but quality changed very little during the 1988 season. Quality as well as color changed very little from last season. Also eight percent graded good quality, up two percentage points; 54 percent fair quality; 29 percent low quality and three percent poor. No grade and unsound accounted for around one percent. Flue-Cured Stabilization receipts for the season amounted to 2,884,820 pounds, 1.7 percent of net sales compared to 2.4 percent of net sales for the 1987 season.
